FLAXWEILER

Introduction of an identification system for grey waste bins (household waste)

Dear Madame, Dear Sir,

The municipality of Flaxweiler is required by the Waste Management Act of March 21st, 2012, to implement the polluter-pays principle. This principle requires that those who cause pollution must bear the costs of the environmental impacts. In practice, this means that the costs of waste disposal must be covered by the consumer. To implement this, the household waste bins will soon be equipped with an electronic chip (Ident-System). This chip will accurately record how often the bins are emptied.

The recorded emptying frequency of the bin, along with its size, will be used to calculate the associated fees. No personal data will be stored in this process.

Utilizing various recycling options (such as glass, paper or organic waste bins, Valorlux bags, and the resource centre) can positively impact the fees for the household waste bin. Producing less household waste is therefore beneficial from both an ecological and economic perspective.

Over the next few months, the municipal council will make the necessary adjustments to the municipal taxes and inform residents in writing and at an information event.

For the successful implementation of this project, we need your cooperation:

- Place your grey waste bins on your property boundary on 22/10/24 from 7.00 a.m. so that they are clearly visible and publicly accessible.
- Leave the containers there until you see the new, permanent container label on the side, your container is then fitted with a chip. Depending on the progress of the work, the chip may also be fitted the day after the fitting date specified above.
- Afterwards, you can return the containers to your property and use them as usual.
- Please note the practical information on the back of this letter.

We thank you for your co-operation.
